Sunaina Suhag, MD, FAAP

Board Certified in Pediatrics

"I chose pediatric medicine because I believe long-term wellness starts in childhood. A child's wellness is dependent on every aspect of their life; physical, emotional, educational and interpersonal health are equally important. I approach care visits as a team, where you and your child are both actively involved in healthcare decisions. This creates well-rounded, well-empowered children with the confidence to transition into autonomous, healthy adults!"
